Social Science Pathway

The Social Science pathway provides access to a range of programs within the social and behavioral sciences. As a field, social and behavioral sciences explore human development, social behavior as well as historical, global, and political analysis. As part of this area's course offering students will be asked to think critically about these and other connections and effectively communicate their ideas.

Transfer majors for this pathway include: American Studies, Anthropology, Economics, Geography, History, International Relations, Peace and Conflict Studies, Political Science, Pre-law, Psychology, and Sociology.
