

NOW PRESENTING, NOW IN PRINT

Spring 2015

MIDDLESEX COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Presentations

Ashli Ree, Assistant Professor and Program Coordinator Fashion Merchandising, together with 3 colleagues from Teachers College at Columbia University, presented at XI International Transformative Learning Conference Teachers College at Columbia University, New York on October 24-26, 2014. Their presentation was entitled "Selecting Supportive Spaces for Personal Transformation: a Reflection on How Personality Characteristics and Past Experience Impact Support Group Success".

Cheryl Hunter, Faculty, English, presented her paper titled "Moral Choices and The Heroic Life" at the New England Popular Culture Association Conference on October 24, 2014 at Providence College in Rhode Island.

Deborah Walsh, Assistant Dean of Business, Entrepreneurship and Legal Studies, presented "EPortfolios in the Paralegal Curriculum" at the National Association for Paralegal Education (AAfPE) conference in Las Vegas on November 6, 2014.

Rick Pozniak, Adjunct Instructor in Communications, was interviewed by National Public Radio on how effectively President Obama is communicating with the nation on the United States military strikes against terrorist strongholds in Syria and the public relations crisis hitting the National Football League over domestic violence.

Jennifer Aradhya, Director, Marketing Communications, and Kathy Register, Senior Writer/Editor, presented "The New Social Media Mission: Creating Social Experiences that Build Community" on October 12-14, 2014 at the annual District 1 Conference of the National Council of Marketing & Public Relations in National Harbor, Maryland.

Terry Downes, Executive Director of the MCC Program on Homeland Security, appeared on WBZ Newsradio in Boston and WCAP Radio in Lowell, ten times between September and January, providing background and analysis on different topics ranging from ISIS, anniversaries of the 9/11 attacks and the 2012 Benghazi Raid, lone wolf terrorism inside the U.S., terrorist attacks in Canada and in Australia, and the terror attacks against the French satirical magazine Charlie Hebdo to associated murders of 12 French citizens.

In Print

Ashli Ree, Assistant Professor and Program Coordinator Fashion Merchandising, co-wrote "Selecting Supportive Spaces for Personal Transformation: A Reflection on How Personality Characteristics and Past Experience Impact Support Group Success" in October 2014.

Deborah Walsh, Assistant Dean of Business, Entrepreneurship and Legal Studies, wrote an article for AAfPE Bytes' December 2014 edition called "Eportfolios: How to Get Started".

Mark Friedman, Adjunct Faculty, Behavioral Science, authored "A Bear (The Chronicles of Latvia)".

Shelley D. Hawks, Adjunct Faculty, Humanities, authored an article, "The Colorists of Taiwan" that was published in Taiwan Journal of East Asian Studies in Volume 11, Number 1, pp. 199-245, Issue 21 in June 2014.

Barbara Mellin, Adjunct professor in English, Art and Humanities, had one of her oil paintings accepted into a National Juried Exhibition for a Southern Appalachian Artist Guild (SAAG) show at Blue Ridge Mountains Arts Association and Art Center in Blue Ridge, Georgia. The exhibition took place from October 18th, 2014 to November 15th, 2014.

Luciano Sappia, Associate Professor of Business and Entrepreneurship, Entrepreneurship Program Coordinator, had his recent blog on the PFEP and effectuation at MCC published in the National Association for Community College Entrepreneurship's Magazine.

If you or a colleague have recently presented at a conference, published an article or engaged in other scholarly activities, email Meylia Tio and get recognized on the Now Presenting, Now in Print website.

tio@middlesex.mass.edu