The U.S. Department of Labor predicts that by 2010, the demand for FBI Officers, Police Officers, Private Detectives, U.S. Customs Agents and those in other professional criminal justice jobs will grow by more than 29%.

Now, you can do all coursework online for an associate degree in Criminal Justice (Administration of Justice Option), with the exception of one hybrid course (CRJ 151), which requires up to five meetings on the MCC campus.

Keep working while gaining the knowledge and skills you need for increased earnings and professional growth – an ideal situation for professionals already in the field and those who seek to enter the field.

Take charge of your education - attend class online anytime, day or night. Collaborate with others using online communication and research tools that are becoming the standard for this industry.

MCC's Administration of Justice option is designed for students working in a variety of criminal justice and law enforcement fields such as: probation, parole, corrections, victim/witness advocacy and related occupations.
